

HELPING GROWERS TRANSITION TO COMMERCIAL SCALE PRODUCTION

CLIENT
Chronicseur Farms

WEBSITE
<http://www.chronicseurfarms.com/>

LOCATION
Clare, Michigan

PROJECT BUDGET
$125,000

FACILITY
Approximately 3,000 plants licensed (capped by Michigan regulations) and around 8,000 square feet of benching.

COMPANY OVERVIEW
Chronicseur is a legal cannabis producer focused on craft style flower production in a commercialized setting. Their goal is to provide customers with the cleanest and highest quality cannabis at fair market prices.

75% REDUCTION IN TOTAL
LABOR COSTS

THE PROBLEM

Chronicseur Farms is a craft operator in the State of Michigan looking to expand their high quality cannabis to a commercial scale. The team had an idea for a low-cost legacy solution to fertigate their 10 cultivation rooms with 80 venturi injectors. While affordable in the short-term, RMJ provided recommendations based on the existing strategy to further expand the cultivation footprint over time.

THE SOLUTION

Leveraging horticultural best practices, RMJ Supply proposed an efficient fertigation solution with better economies of scale. The new strategy utilized automated fertigation skids and injectors. The proposal was within the original budget and would allow Chronicseur the flexibility to adjust their nutrient strategy to further reduce the cost of production. RMJ conducted the sourcing and procurement of the equipment and oversaw the installation and commissioning of the fertigation system.

THE OUTCOME

RMJ successfully completed the fertigation installation on-time for the same cost as the initial planned solution. The solution mitigated operational risk by reducing potential points of failure and included full irrigation and controls, which were not included in the existing solution.. This equated to a more efficient plant management and nutrient delivery system as the facility expands its footprint.

Upon the completion of the initial project, Chronicseur continues to partner with RMJ to source equipment and supplies.

RMJ Supply is a reliable and knowledgeable partner, they have become our go to resource for sourcing equipment and supplies.

Mike Wilkens, Director of Cultivation at Chronicseur Farms